CRAFTING YOUR EXPERIENCE

Hello! Las Vegas Destination Management specializes in creating extraordinary event experiences through innovative design and production. Since no two groups are alike, each event must take on its own special identity. We meet this challenge through limitless imagination expressed via carefully crafted décor and entertainment. When working with a client, our Account Executives conduct an in-depth analysis of the event, clarifying the vision, desires, and message. Then, we spring into action to design an event that is both detailed and imaginative. We always consider the overall meeting objectives and attendee profile when creating a concept. Hello! Las Vegas Destination Management's successes and quality reputation are based not only on our extraordinary creativity but also on our on-site event management expertise. Our experience, combined with an intimate knowledge of the market, allows us to design the right event the first time!

Transportation and Staff

Transportation isn't just a mundane piece of logistics—it's an experience all its own and is often the first impression guests have for what's in store. Selecting a quality operator is just the first step in developing a comprehensive transportation plan. Special requests? Our pleasure. Whether it's a group of five or 5,000, we'll explore and assess the factors that can make or break the trip, develop a plan, then deliver stress-free results.
